

OBITUARY

Prof. Dr. Muhammad Qasim Memon

Ph. D. Physiology (UK)

Professor and Head of Physiology Department, Liaquat University of Medical and Health Sciences, Jamshoro

A few days ago, our colleague, teacher, supervisor, mentor, and above all, a nice friend was among his friends and smiling as usual. He was travelling to Karachi when he had a fatal heart attack and his journey proved to be his last journey to heaven.

A 49-year-old, ever smiling and loving person, author of more than 40 research publications suddenly left us all very sad and trying to bear this great loss. His friends are still speechless and in shock. Not only he left this world for eternal peace in paradise but he closed a chapter of academics and research and excellent medical education to undergraduates and postgraduates. The vacuum created by his demise will take long to fill, perhaps never completely!

Besides his family members, he left his students and the Pakistan Physiological Society mourning with eyes filled with tears and broken hearts. May Allah bless the departed soul with high place in Jannah, Aameen! summ Aameen!!

Pakistan Physiological Society

mourns the sad demise of a learned Physiologist, Researcher, Teacher, Mentor, and Friend who left for his heavenly abode!
